The Tiles of Iberia

As the taxi neared the entrance of the new Hotel Husa Sevilla, the gentle splashing of water in the hotel's traditional Andalusian tile fountain drew my eyes and ears irresistibly. The sight and sound of the running water seemed to relieve the heat and brightness that vibrated from the stark exterior of the building.

Once inside the hotel lobby, I saw Alhambra-inspired Spanish tiles everywhere: along the reception desk, on the lobby walls, in the café - even the ceilings were covered. Intricate patterns of brown, blue, red, white and green blended to create a harmonious whole.

Later, walking out of the hotel, I glanced across the street at an old red-brick building. The horseshoe-arched, Moorish-style windows were surrounded by traditional tiles.

A little farther down the street, at a tree-shaded bus stop, people were sitting on the low wall of the neighboring building, fanning themselves and waiting for their buses. They were sitting on tiles: Embedded by the hundreds atop and on the sides of the brick wall, they depicted scenes of daily life in the Seville that existed a century or more ago.

Later in the day, on Sierpes Street, I passed a life-sized automobile advertisement - on tiles. Painted by a Señor Pinto in 1924, this ceramic billboard depicted a magnificent black convertible rolling down a scenic country road. "Studebaker - Automoviles de 6 Cilindros," the headline read.

Tiles were starting to appear wherever I looked. I was definitely becoming tile-struck - just as all of Spain has been for the past 900 years.

From the President ...

By now we have broken most of our new year's resolutions so this could be a good time for us to be thinking of resolving things in a different way. Even with the same 24 hours in the day there seems to be less and less time to get things done. We appear to have what seems like more and more on our plates in these later years so our solution is to just write what doesn't get done at the bottom of the list and try again the next year. That is why we usually break most resolutions made by the end of the first month

Make this year different. This year let's try to make smaller goals so they become more attainable and gratifying. Smaller goals will give us job completion and personal satisfaction which makes for a happier you. Try to make a monthly resolution to attend a Studebaker event like the Wickenburg Parade coming up on the 13th or at least some car event with your Studebaker this month and then next month try it again. There will be an ALL Studebaker March Madness in Tucson and an All Makes event in Phoenix. Keep trying this just one month at a time and while you are at that event strive to meet a new person each month and there you have another resolutions resolved; show the Studebaker and introduce it to a new person. This will save you money in the long run because the Grand Canyon State Chapter will pay YOUR dues for any new member you bring in.

This sounds good but just how do you think you can add more to your life in this ever so changing faster paced world, you ask? Think back to when you were a teenager and imagine this for a moment. You now have everything you wanted as a teenager only 60 years later. You get an allowance every month and you don't have to go to school and get good grades or work to receive it. You have your own home, a driver's license and a Studebaker to drive. You have an ID that now gets you into most places and gets you discounts at the same time. This allows you to get that high without drinking Boones Farm, Ripple, MD20-20 or Thunderbird unless you choose to.

The people you now hang around with are content with their surroundings and are not scared of getting pregnant. Because they have been blessed to live this long they can actually now be called a Seenager (Senior Teenager).

At this point you may think that I have forgotten about the Youngers out there. Not so. I just wanted to point out the fabulous things you can look forward to. Don't get me wrong, Youngers have good points also. They have some of the fastest thumbs mankind has ever seen. They have created a whole new language, OMG, LOL... They feel they can multi-task better than anyone before them. They can access a vast array of anything they want just by using these thumbs and visiting this place called the internet. Because of this phenomenon they think that Seenagers are slower and forgetful. This is not really the case.

We will then drive to our staging area and wait for the parade to begin at 10am. As you know Wickenburg residents are always glad to see our Studebakers in the parade. It brings back memories of when their parents or they drove Studebakers.

After the parade we will drive back to Surprise to the 5 & Diner restaurant, 11340 W. Bell Rd, #125 for lunch at 12:30pm in their meeting room. We will have a chapter meeting to discuss plans for the March All Makes Show and will give you another chance to visit with your fellow chapter members.

There will be a caravan down to Tucson and if interested meet up at the Cracker Barrel restaurant at I-10 & Chandler Blvd by 7:30am. If you want to eat please be done by 7:45 so we can start our journey to Tucson. For those who wish to drive down on your own you can take I-10 to Ina Road and go east to La Cholla Road.

This is always a fun event, so let's support our sister chapter with a good turnout from GCSC members.

With, as what appears to be a memory that seems to be failing daily, (like that moment when they go into another room to get something and when they get there, they just stand and wonder what they came for) this is simply nature's way of making older people do more exercise.

Now as this Seenager, Youngers think you are slowing down but this is not really the case. Seenagers brains are getting full. A Seenagers brain is so full of experiences and information that it struggles longer to access this info, making it much like that computer Youngers are always upgrading when the Hard Drive gets full. Scientist believe this also makes Seenagers hard of hearing not because of the same selective hearing Youngers have but because there is now more pressure on their inner ear, which by the way also affects their balance sometimes.

So There! I hope that you will feel much more intelligent after reading this mainly because you are either a Seenager that has made it this far or a Younger that is interested in where you will end up.

Remember how it felt in the past when someone said something cool about your Studebaker. Now pass on that feeling to a Younger by showing them your sleek, distinguished Studebaker design so they know what feeling cool really is like.

I have more friends I should send this to, but right now I can't remember their names. So, please forward this to your friends; they may be my friends, too. Tell them Studebakers are Great. Studebaker People are the Greatest.

USEFUL INFORMATION

Every day household appliances can be deceiving at first glance. Your dishwasher has so many more uses than just washing, well, dishes. Like sanitizing your toothbrush: Most of us don't do this near enough! It's super important especially after you've been sick.

As farfetched as it sounds, you can also use the dishwasher to shine your hubcaps! Skip the hose next time and opt to stay inside.

Cleaning canvas sneakers: remember I said canvas! That means anything similar to Converse are dishwasher safe.

Your dishwasher can be used to cook vegetables and even poach salmon! Foods tightly wrapped in foil can be steamed, but just remember to not add soap.

Feel free to experiment at your own risk!

MFG, GM AND THE AVANTI

Submitted by Bill Cervini

GM introduced the 1963 Corvette Stingray about the same time as the Avanti was introduced. MFG (Molded Fiber Glass) got the job to build the new Corvette bodies, too. The Avanti was off to a great start, as people were flocking to dealers to put deposits on them. Now here's the clinker: GM demanded that MFG give priority to the Corvette bodies. As a result, MFG did not provide enough Avanti bodies to Studebaker to meet the demand. Many potential Avanti buyers could not get their cars because of this. Soon these potential buyers walked away from Studebaker and bought the new Buick Riviera, Corvette or new Thunderbird. This brought Studebaker to their knees and was the beginning of the end for the company. If Studebaker could have sold as many Avantis as were initially ordered, it would have survived much longer because the Avanti signaled a new beginning under a dynamic young president. The Granatelli Brothers broke all kinds of land speed records by factory stock cars at Bonneville Salt Flats with the Avantis and regular Studebaker sedans that were available with the new engines the brothers built for Studebaker. It was burst of glory for the struggling company, but to no avail.

I was a college senior when this took place and when Studebaker shut down Avanti production after only about 4500 cars. I was devastated to say the least. That was in December, 1963. I was looking forward to getting a new Avanti as soon as I graduated and was in a real panic. I was able to get one of the orphans, still unsold, in June, 1964.

Studebaker closed up shop in South Bend, Ind. in 1964 and continued production of the sedans in Canada. They survived a couple of more years using Chevy engines (YUCK!!). 1966 was the last of the Studebakers - a great US car company that made many fantastic cars over the years after being one of the foremost US wagon builders since 1852.

A very sad, sad story for me and many other Studebaker fans! I had even envisioned working for Studebaker after college. The dream was ended.

At least I was able to get a new Avanti exactly as I would have ordered it, except for the automatic. I wanted a "4 on the floor".

I still have not forgiven GM for what they did to help kill Studebaker. I never have and never will buy a GM product.

Editor's Note: Bill reports he has a fiberglass tray made by MFG with an picture of an Avanti on it. It was a promotional thing Studebaker was giving out at the time.

Visit <http://compag.moldedfiberglass.com/2015/spring/time-travel> for more about MFG's role in the history of the Avanti.

Ladies and Gentlemen!! "START – YOUR – GRAVITY II"

Valve Cover Racing Rules and Guidelines

Valve Cover Racing is to be included at the March Madness Car Show. What's a valve cover race? Think Pine Wood derby for automotive enthusiasts. Take your favorite valve cover, add wheels and go racing. Is a Buick straight 8 valve cover faster than a Chevy, Studebaker, Ford, Chrysler or a flat head side cover? Bring yours to the Car Show and find out.

Official Rules - They are pretty Basic:

1. Must be an actual valve or side (flat heads) engine cover.
2. Must be gravity powered. Absolutely no other power source allowed.
3. Total weight cannot exceed 10 pounds. We will have the official scales.
4. Dimensions may be no larger than 10" high or 10" wide.
5. Total length must not exceed 10% over stock length of original valve cover.
6. Wheels cannot extend past front of valve cover.
7. No sharp edges or sharp protrusions on the racer.
8. No propulsion mechanisms or moving weights.
9. Lowest valve cover surface $\frac{3}{4}$ " or more above track surface.

Track is two feet wide consisting of two lanes.
Track is 32 feet long starting at a 4 foot elevation.

Competition will be open to all registered meet attendees. There will be awards for categories such as individuality and design as well as the race winners.

Appearance Alterations encouraged.
